Versus

Shri Bhimsha Kallapa Choughule
and Ors. ....Respondents

Mr.Sachin U.Dhakephalkar, Adv. for the petitioners.
Mr.Surel Shah, Advocate for the respondents.

CORAM: S.C.DHARMADHIKARI, J.

19.11.2007

P.C. :

1. In my view, there is no reason to interefere at this stage with the order under challenge. The same is inter-locutory and passed during the proceedings. If as a result of the order and direction, the final judgment is adverse to the Petitioners Plaintiffs, then, it is open to them to challenge the same and in such challenge also urge that the impugned order and direction could not have been issued and issuance of the same has caused serious prejudice to them. All such contentions are always for being urged. No interference is necessary at this stage. Petition dismissed. Ad-interim order stands vacated. No costs.
